CONFERENCE TEAMS CHALLENGED IN FIRST FULL WEEK OF SEASON:

The two-year wait for a full men's basketball season is over and conference teams are still working on knocking the rust off.

Only three of the conference's 10 teams finished at .500 or better following a weekend that saw all but one team play on the road.

Saint Martin's and Central Washington led the way as each team posted a 1-1 record. The Saints opened the Cal State San Marcos Conference Crossover with a 94-88 win over Holy Names on Friday before taking a 76-60 loss to the host Cougars on Saturday.

The Saints improved to 2-1 with a 99-81 win in their home opener over Warner Pacific on Wednesday. With the 99-point and 94-point wins, Saint Martin's has two of the top-three scoring performances on the season in the conference.

The SMU effort was led by Brett Reed. The senior transfer forward from Chaminade is averaging 15 points and 6.7 rebounds per game over the three contests.

Central Washington split a pair of games at Cal State Monterey Bay. The Wildcats opened the season with a 74-63 win over the host Otters on Friday before taking an 88-74 loss to Cal State San Bernardino on Saturday.

The Wildcats were buoyed by senior guard David Thompson, who averaged 16 points per game and scored 18 in the victory over Cal State Monterey Bay.

The one team that did play at home, Northwest Nazarene, went to overtime with NAIA rival Bushnell before collecting a 101-91 victory. The Nighthawks outscored the Beacons 18-8 in the final five minutes, paced by a 21-point, 12-rebound double-double from sophomore forward James Nelson.

Several GNAC teams are hoping that a little home cooking this weekend will put them back in the win column. Western Washington hosts the Chuck Randal Classic this weekend, welcoming Seattle Pacific, Azusa Pacific and Concordia Irvine to Carver Gym.

Alaska Anchorage will host Lincoln Christian for a pair of games on Friday and Saturday. Simon Fraser will take on a pair of Canadian rivals in British Columbia on Saturday and Langara on Sunday. Montana State Billings will also be at home, hosting Minot State on Saturday.
