History Made In Glendora, History Falls Short In Monmouth

History was made in the GNAC last Saturday, but it was not where you expected it to be made.

Simon Fraser made that history as it snapped a 35-game losing streak in GNAC games with a 24-17 win at Azusa Pacific. The Clan trailed 10-0 at halftime, but proceeded to outscore the Cougars 24-7 in the second half while limiting APU to a paltry 208 yards of total offense on the night.

The last time Simon Fraser had a "W" in the conference win/loss column was a 53-31 win over South Dakota Mines on Oct. 18, 2014. That was also the Clan's last win over an NCAA Division II opponent.

The contest yielded both the GNAC Offensive and Defensive Players of the Week, the first such awards since October 2018. Senior wide receiver Rysen John earned the offensive award for his 109 receiving yards and three touchdowns on eight receptions.

Freshman linebacker Ian Crocker earned the conference's defensive honor as he finished with eight tackles, including five solo tackles, 3.5 tackles for loss for 20 yards and two sacks for 18 yards.

Western Oregon hoped to make history in Monmouth on Saturday by claiming a share of its first-ever GNAC championship. But Central Washington fought right down to the final play to make sure that didn't happen.

After trailing 21-7 in the second quarter, the Wildcats fought back to tie the game 35-35 on a one-yard pass from Christian Moore to JoJo Hillel with 58 seconds left in regulation.

Michael Roots scored in the first overtime and Patrick Hegarty connected on the extra point before Currie found Evander Willingham for a one-yard pass in the Wolves' possession. Western opted to go for the win with a two-point conversion, which the Wildcats stopped for the win.

For his efforts, Hegarty was named the GNAC Special Teams Player of the Week as he went 6 for 6 in extra points and punted five times with an average of 39.8 yards per punt.

Central Washington and Simon Fraser will engage in the only GNAC contest this week in Ellensburg on Saturday night. Azusa Pacific will host Colorado Mines and Western Oregon hosts Midwestern State.
